

AFTER FRAUTECH SEPARATORS, PIETRIBIASI ACQUIRES MILKYLAB

After the acquisition at the end of 2020 of Pietribiasi, active in the production of machinery and lines for the treatment of animal and vegetable milk, Deal Source had already finalized in 2021 the further acquisition of the activities of the Austrian multinational Andritz related to the production of vertical axis centrifuges for the filtration and skimming of milk and butter production, establishing Frautech Separators, 100% owned by Pietribiasi. The further expansion of the scope of activities following the aggregation with MilkyLAB projects the group into the dairy sector, Thanks to the important skills and references of the latter in the field of machinery and lines for the production of mozzarella and other cheeses.
